COURSE DESCRIPTION: Though most people today know of the European Union's (EU) existence, an important underlying question remains: what is it, exactly? Is it another intergovernmental organization—like the United Nations (UN) or North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO)—where individual nation-states group together to achieve a common overarching objective? Is it an up-and-coming nation-state—a soon-to-be “United States of Europe”—currently undergoing a process similar to the United States’ historical experience of unifying thirteen colonies into one sociopolitical entity? Is it a futuristic model of regional or even global governance, hinting at what a world beyond nation-states will look like? Is it a stand-alone polity in its own right, or simply a political tool used by national governments to achieve their own objectives? Could it be parts of all the above?

There is no clear answer. The EU has been different things at different times, and continues to represent different ideals to different people today. For some, recent events (namely, the euro debt crisis) call into question the EU's future existence. But present challenges should not preclude a deep appreciation for all that the EU has already accomplished. Therefore, the primary objective of this course is to provide students with the instruction and resources necessary to determine for themselves “the nature of the beast”. What is the EU? Who is the EU? Where has it come from? Where is it going? What does it do? Why is it important? By evaluating the characteristics and contributions of the EU in comparative context, students will better understand the EU's cutting-edge role in world politics, economics, and culture.

This course takes a multidisciplinary approach weaving together perspectives from history, cultural anthropology, economics, social psychology, and political science—as well as an interactive and investigatory one in which students actively engage in the learning process. While a thorough knowledge of the EU requires a foundational description of EU treaties, structures, and procedures, a good portion of this course will then delve into the symbiotic relationship between the EU and the nearly 500 million citizens living within its borders. What do citizens think of the EU? What opportunities do they have to get involved? When, why, and how does public opinion matter? How have identities and opinions changed over time? And how do these patterns vary across individuals and member states? This additional angle will provide students with more comprehensive insight into contemporary EU affairs.

OBJECTIVES: Through active engagement in class, students will:

- Familiarize themselves with the history, institutions, accomplishments, and challenges surrounding the EU
- Compare the EU to other worldwide phenomena in order to determine whether it is suoi generis, a model for other regional integration endeavors to emulate, or something else
- Develop practical, transferrable skills such as reading comprehension, critical thinking, analytical research, and persuasive writing
- Cooperate and communicate with one another to share knowledge and expertise
- Recognize where the course material fits into scholarly dialogue and analyze strengths/weaknesses within an argument
- Identify applicability of course material to personal interests and real-world events

STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES: All assigned readings should be done before class to facilitate lecture and discussion. Please check D2L and your CU email regularly for important updates and announcements, as you will be accountable for all information transmitted via these electronic resources. In addition, a significant portion of this course entails group work requiring you to communicate clearly and often with fellow students.

REQUIREMENTS: The course is structured as follows:

Attendance, Participation, & iClickers (20%)

Class format will vary between discussion, group activities, multimedia presentations, case studies, lecture, and simulation exercises. Preparation and participation are critical as the course builds cumulatively upon all earlier material. Note that this is an iClicker course; attendance will be tracked through iClicker engagement and a substantial portion of participation points will employ iClicker activities. Attendance is crucial for success: Students who miss more than 15 classes will automatically fail the course—regardless of whether absences are excused or unexcused. In sum, your grade is based on showing up, speaking up, clicking in, and turning in miscellaneous daily assignments.

News Presentation (5%)

Because so much is constantly happening in, around, and regarding the EU, keeping up with current events is imperative. To assist in this task, students will sign up for a date to present a news article to the rest of the class. The chosen article must come from a reputable news source (e.g., The Economist, The Financial Times, etc.), pertain to the EU or one of its member states, be dated within a week of the presentation, and be relevant to that week's reading/lecture topic. Students will give a short oral presentation to the class, as well as submit hard copies of both the article and a 2-page typed, double-spaced paper that 1) summarizes the article, 2) analyzes the article's application to course themes, and 3) details their personal reflection of the issue.

Discussion Leadership (5%)

Students will choose a date to lead class discussion with a couple other people. Groups will be expected to collaborate outside of class to devise a ten minute presentation summarizing and reflecting upon that week's readings. Groups should also email me the following no later than midnight two days before they present: 1) a list of key terms and concepts, and 2) a minimum of three discussion questions per person. I will then compile everything into a handout for the rest of the class. Discussion leaders should aim to provoke conversation and debate and will be graded on the quality of the presentation, the quality of the discussion questions, and the quality of participation by the class at large.

Group Policy Brief Project (30%)

Students will work in small groups to identify a major challenge currently facing the EU, research scholarly opinions on the issue, and develop a practical solution to ameliorate the problem. Groups will then present their findings and argument to the class, as well as submit an official written exposé due on the day of their presentation. (More detailed instructions to follow.) To help students coordinate their efforts, there are three “Group Work Days” where groups are expected to meet (at a location of their choice) to work on the project together in place of normal lecture.

Exams (40%)

There will be a midterm on Friday, March 9th and a final exam at the university-scheduled date and time in our normal classroom.<sup>1</sup> There are NO make-ups!

GRADE BREAKDOWN:

Attendance – 10%
Participation – 10%
News Presentation & Paper – 5%
Discussion Leadership – 5%
Midterm – 20%
Group Policy Brief Project – 30%
Final Exam – 20%

IMPORTANT UNIVERSITY POLICIES:

Academic Honesty

Any violations of University of Colorado's academic integrity policy, including cheating, plagiarism, academic dishonesty, fabrication, lying, bribery, and threatening behavior is grounds for an automatic F, expulsion from the class, and referral to the Honor Code Council (honor@colorado.edu; 303-725-2273). Students who are found to be in violation of the academic integrity policy will be subject to both academic sanctions from the faculty member and non-academic sanctions (including but not limited to university probation, suspension, or expulsion). All students are required to sign and submit a consent form by the end of the second week of class agreeing not to commit any kind of academic dishonesty (including but not limited to cheating on exams, improper citation, self-plagiarism, submitting someone else's work, 'clicking in' for an absent friend, etc.) and acknowledging that they WILL be reported to the Honor Code Council if found to be in violation of any Honor Code Policy.<sup>2</sup> If you have questions about what is or is not permissible, ask first. Other information on the Honor Code can be found at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/honor.html> and at <http://www.colorado.edu/academics/honorcode/>. It is also highly recommended that all students thoroughly read the complete Honor Code Constitution: <http://honorcode.colorado.edu/sites/default/files/honor%20code%20constitution.pdf>.

Students with Disabilities

If you qualify for accommodations because of a disability, please submit to me a letter from Disability Services at least two weeks before an exam so that your needs may be addressed. Disability Services determines accommodations based on documented disabilities. Contact: 303-492-8671, Willard 322, and www.Colorado.EDU/disabilityservices.

Religious Observances

Campus policy regarding religious observances requires that faculty make every effort to reasonably and fairly deal with all students who, because of religious obligations, have conflicts with scheduled exams, assignments or required attendance. If applicable, please let me know in a timely manner. http://www.colorado.edu/policies/fac\_relig.html.

Appropriate Learning Environment

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. Students who fail to adhere to such behavioral standards may be subject to discipline. Faculty have the professional responsibility to treat all students with understanding, dignity and respect, to guide classroom discussion and to set reasonable limits on the manner in which they and their students express opinions. Professional courtesy and sensitivity are especially important with respect to individuals and topics dealing with differences of race, culture, religion, politics, sexual orientation, gender, gender variance, and nationalities. Class rosters are provided to the instructor with the student's legal name. I will gladly honor your request to address you by an alternate name or gender pronoun. Please advise me of this preference early in the semester so that I may make appropriate changes to my records. See policies at <http://www.colorado.edu/policies/classbehavior.html> and at http://www.colorado.edu/studentaffairs/judicialaffairs/code.html#student\_code.

Discrimination and Harassment

The University of Colorado at Boulder policy on Discrimination and Harassment, the University of Colorado policy on Sexual Harassment and the University of Colorado policy on Amorous Relationships apply to all students, staff and faculty. Any student, staff or faculty member who believes s/he has been the subject of discrimination or harassment based upon race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status should contact the Office of Discrimination and Harassment (ODH) at 303-492-2127 or the Office of Judicial Affairs at 303-492-5550. Information about the ODH, the above referenced policies and the campus resources available to assist individuals regarding discrimination or harassment can be obtained at <http://www.colorado.edu/odh>
